A telephone/emergency medical alert system designed for everyone, including people with hearing and/or vision loss. Know who's calling before you answer with Talking Caller ID. Ideal for anyone who is either busy at home, does not want to be disturbed by telemarketers or unable read or reach the Caller ID before the caller hangs up.

The phone vocally announces incoming calls by Speaking the numbers in a clear voice or playing your recorded label for the caller, plus the information also appears on the large screen. This system also has a remote call feature that allows a caller to call the phone and after 10 rings enters a user password that will remotely answer the phone in 2 way speakerphone mode. This would allow you to call and check up on someone and speak to them through the speakerphone without them having to touch the phone. This is a great way to call someone and make sure they were ok without the person you were calling having to do anything to answer the phone, totally hands free.
